Subject Aim and Content:

The aim of this subject is to develop students' knowledge and skills in organising the work of eLearning practitioners and planning and implementing projects.

Students explore how organisations and individuals can promote the development of an engaged, positive organisational culture, built on understanding organisational members' strengths, resilience, learning preferences and motivations. They will then consider how to devise clear expectations of organisational members through values, vision and purpose statements, position descriptions, key performance indicators, and metrics.

From here students will cover how to create and actively manage strategic, operational and project plans aligned to expectations to manage activities, tasks and resources, and to provide feedback on members, managers and leadership performance. The subject will conclude with an exploration of how organisational members performance against expectations and plans may be evaluated.
